The Secrets of Aldermanic Offices Exposed in Court Yesterday.

JUDGE WHITE'S SEVERE REMARKS.

The Result of a Complete Trial in an Old Conspiracy Case.

ARGUMENTS IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Tribunals.

Revelations were made in the Criminal Court yesterday touching the manner in which liquor cases have been settled in Aldermen's offices. They caused Judge White to make some pretty severe remarks. Arguments are still being made in various cases in the Supreme Court.

Iu the Criminal Court yesterday, before Judge White, Charles McClure, Isaac Brown and Thomas Carney were on trial for conspiracy. The defendants were alleged to have brought a suit against a Mrs. Regina Lies, of James street. Alleghenv, for selling liquor without a license and causing the suit come before Alderman Porter and again fore Alderman Nolan. Before the hearing Mrs. Lies was told by 'Squire Porter the case could be fixed by seeing Constable Carney, who told her it would take $100 to settle it. It never came to a hearing, and the presumption was that it had been so settled.

In charging the jury Judge White was very severe on aldermen in general for settling suits in that way in their offices, and Aldermen Porter and Nolan in particular. He said such corter and Noian in particular, He said such uction was in violation of their oaths and prositured their offices. It tended to induce suits a be brought on frivolous charges for the purpose of extorting money from people unacquainted with the law. Iniquity was added to niquity to prosecute them and settle for a sonsderation. The jury was out but about five ninures when they returned with a verdict of mility.

In the same court Joseph Christicevelz, of e Southside, was tried and found guilty of lling liquor without a license and on Sunday. During his trial he made the statement that he had given $109, to John Coslett, an ex-police officer, to have the case settled. Judge White called District Attorney Porter's attention to it and said Co-lett must be indicted. It is said Coulert is Consel.

called District Attorney Porter's attention to it and said Co-lett must be indicted. It is said Co-lett is in Canada.

Wm. Fisher, an old colored man, plead guilty to selling liquor in a prohibitory district. His home is in Sewickley, and in answer to Judge White's question he told the names of several young men of that town who bought of him. He was not an extensive dealer, having bought but about five or eight gallons of whisky in the past two years. He bought it by the quart bottle and sold it by the drink. He told the Judge he could not pay a fine or even the costs, and the Judge told him he would think about his case until Saturday, until which time Fisher could go back to jail.

George McLogen and Wm. Werner were tried for assault and battery on J. A. Armstrong. They were found not guilty and the costs were divided. Frank Bomright plead guilty to a charge of assault and battery and was sentenced to the workhouse for one day.

SUPREME COURT ARGUMENTS.

Rensons Set Forth to the Big Judges in Several Cases. In the Supreme Court yesterday an argument was heard in the appeal of E. M. Gross, who was an exceptant in the Quarter Se Court from the decree incorporating the Borough of Jeannette, Westmoreland county. Gross is a property owner in the borough, and objected to the incorporation of the borough. He filed exceptions in the lower court, which were dismissed, and he appealed the case.

The case of the Titusville Iron Works against the Keystone Oil Company, an error to the mmon Pleas of Venango county, was heard. The suit was on a mechanic's lien filed against the oil company to recover for work and ma-terial used in the construction of an oil re-finery, the oil company afterward becoming in-solvent. The case was appealed by the iron works.

Arguments were also heard in the following cases: Appeal of the Westmoreland and Cambria Natural Gas Company, from the judgment of the Common Pleas of Westmoreland county; Isabella Elliott, from the judgment of the Common Pleas of Venango county; H. H. Parry against Zacharias T. Parry, an error to the Common Pleas of Greene county; James Essiminger, for use of W. A. Charges Growing Out of the Wood Street Disneter.

Gustav Meisner yesterday entered suit against Huckenstein & Co., the contractors, and C. L. Willey, for $8,000 damages. Meisner was a printer for Eichbaum & Co. The room in which he worked was crushed in by the falling Willey building last spring and he was buried in the ruins. His right leg was broken ouried in the ruins. His right leg was broken in three places and his shoulder blade broken. Meisner alleges that the construction of the building was defective. That the two side and rear walls were built up for seven stories, a height of 65 feet without a front wall, or sufficient braces to sustain them. The walls also were not strong enough for the height and to resist ordinary storms and winds were not strong enough for the height and to resist ordinary storms and winds, the wind sweeping in the open from having full play against the side and rear walls in which there were no breaks to let the wind through, thus offering great resistance. It is also claimed that the building was erected contrary to law, there having been no building permit issued for a seven-story building.

The United States revenue cutter Rush has arrived at Seattle from Alaska. Lieutenant Commander Shepard was interviewed about rumors current here for the last few weeks that British Columbians were lying in wait for him to punish him for seizing British schooners. The commander smiled and said he had not heard of any such threats until he had read them in the papers on his arrival at Port Townsend. He said that he did not believe anything of the kind had been uttered and that the statement must have come from irresponsible parties. If there was any truth in it, and he could have been apprised of it in time he would have steamed into Victoria and would have shaken the American flag in the faces of the Victorians.

commerce law, and the trial of the cause will be of the greatest importance, testing, as it will, the right of railroads to charge higher rates to the interior towns than to St. Paul and Minneapolis. There is also involved in the issue the question of hundreds of thousands of dollars revenue to the railroads. It is said that Faribault, at the instance of which town this indictment was secured, pays to the railroads the sum of $100,000 a year freight rates. The "Soo" road was not indicted because there was no case against it. It had only shipped one consignment of alcohol at a low rate and it did not appear that it was not ready to ship all the alcohol it could get at the same rate. The trial of the Milwaukee case will demonstrate the right of railros companies to ignore the long and short haul clause of the inter-State law, in instances where it effects the roads revenue.

EVA'S OWN WEALTH The Hamilton Woman Says Her Rich

Husband Borrowed Back MORE MONEY THAN HE GAVE HER

The One New Phase of the Prisoner's Story, From Her Cell.

JOSH MANN, HER EUROPEAN ESCORT Mrs. Hamilton.

There is only one distinctly new festure or allegation brought out by "Nellie Bly" in her Tuesday's interview with Mrs. Eva. Hamilton in the latter's prison cell at Trenton. That is the claim that rich Mr. Hamilton gave his wife no more money than he borrowed back from her.

A greal deal of pompous circumstance and detail was given by the World yesterday in its publication of an interview with Mrs. Eva Hamilton in the penitentiary at Trenton. Mrs. Hamilton there told "Nellie Bly," as she had before told reporters and officials, that Baby Beatrice was her own; that she really loved Hamilton; that Josh Mann and the Swintons were the cause of all her troubles, and that Mr. Hamilton, rich as he is, had never given her more money than he had borrowed back from her. The latter is the only distinctly new feature in the interview, and this is how Mrs. Hamilton told it:

"Mr. Hamilton claims he gave me $10,000. That is not true, I will tell you how it hap-pened. He and a friend of his went out the road with — — (she again gave the names).
They stopped at a road-house and they all drank too much wine, and when Mr. Hamilton came back, he told me all about it and what had happened, which was something dreadful. I got angry and we

HAD A QUARREL,

and I threatened to go to — the husband of the lady (giving his name) and tell him the whole thing. Mr. Hamilton begged me not, and said if I promised never to tell he would give me $10,000. I promised. He gave me $9,000, which I intended to pay for a house I had bought at Passaic Bridge, N. J. In a few days he asked me for $6,000 back. I gave it. Afterward he borrowed $4,800 of my own money, and still again $3,250. He had never paid the other he borrowed back, so this time I said to bim: 'Ray Hamilton, you will promise to-day to pay this, but to-morrow you will deny every word of it. so I won't give you a cent unless you give me a receipt to that effect.'

"He wrote out: 'I owe Eva Hamilton borrowed money, etc.' This receipt is with my papers in the Atlantic City Bank. At three different times after this he borrowed $150, $100 and $150 from me. He never paid one cent back, and they have all been saying I was taking his money from him.

"My diamonds they talk about are only worth $1,500. The majority of them I owned. Mr. Hamilton gave me very few. Besides, I have $2,700, all of which is in bonds and mortgages except $900, which is on deposit in a bank."

NO CHECK ON THE BOODLE. "Mr. Hamilton, as I have told you, never raised any objections to my giving money to the Swintons. I kept Mrs. Swinton, Josh Mann, Mrs.Swinton's granddaughter (Carrie Swinton or Collens, as her right name is). I kept them

NEW PLACES FOR TWO. An Alleged Plan to Elevate Revenue Comsalouer Mason to the Vacant Pension Bureau-Green B. Raum to Get His Old Job.

MASHINGTON, October 9.—There is a new "combination" under discussion in connection with the pension commissionership It involves the transfer of Internal Revenue Commissioner Mason to the Pension Bureau, and the appointment of Green B. Ranm to his old place at the head of the Internal Revenue Bureau. Ever since he resigned, in the spring of 1886, General Raum has been engaged in the practice of the law here, making a specialty of the class of cases arising in the liquor and tobacco trades, with which he became quite familiar during his term as commissioner. He is a Republican, of the ultra-partisan stripe, and at one time was supposed to divide the political ownership of the State of Illinois with John A. Logan. What drove him temporarily out of politics was his yearning to be a Senator at the same time that Mr. Cullom was seized with a similar fancy. He broke with Logan, also, on the question of State boss-ship. There are plenty of persons within his own party, as well as without, who refer with severity to the way he used to marshal the whole force of his bureau, and the distillera beside, to the support of his slate in a convention. his old place at the head of the Internal

Mr. Mason, who seems now to have taken General Raum's place in this programme, distinguished himself a few weeks ago while on a visit to his home State. West Virginia, by making a speech to the old soldiers which even Corporal Tanuer would soldiers which even Corporal Tanuer would soldiers which even Corporal Tanner would have found it hard to outstrip in radicalism. He proposed to get rid of the surplus by shoveling the money out of the Treasury into the pockets of the veterans under a service pension system, so that every man of them should have his share. When your correspondent inquired of him whether this speech embodied the President's ideas on the subject he answered: the subject, he answered:

the subject, he answered:

"It was my own speech, sir, not the President's. I commit nobody to those sentiments but myself."

He added that he had held no communication with the President about the speech, but did not venture to assert whether it was or was not in accord with what he knew to be the policy of the administration. If he goes into the Pension Bureau it will be safe to prepare for a revival of the era of sensations.

"SAYING AND DOING ARE TWO THINGS."

This old and true adage very aptly illustrates the difference be-

KAUFMANNS

If words, instead of actions, decide the merit of make or merchandise, then we are willing to take a back seat and leave the field to loud mouthed competition. The fact is much sense, but more nonsense, has lately been printed about

OVERCOATS

Dealers whose very name is a synonym for all that is shoddy, trash and cheap Johnism brazenly claim to have the finest and most stylish garments in town; others who show one style where we show ten, or ten where we show a hundred, have the "cheek" to advertise "the largest assortments," while still others, whose figures we discount from 15 to 30 per cent, actually have the "gall" to announce their prices the lowest

The people, however, are not to be hoodwinked by high-sounding prefensions of unscrupulous advertisers. They very well know that Kaufmanns', although they are not given to "blowin' their own horn" continually, serve the interests of their customers so much the better. And nowhere is the truth of this more apparent than in Kaufmanns grand bargains of Men's Overcoats. Read the following few:

MEN'S GOOD OVERCOATS at $7 50.

The trimmings and sewing are true on every one of them; materials durable and stylish; colors light, medium and dark; one line is silk faced. We have over 2,000 to choose from and all sizes. They equal those cold shewhere for $10. At $7 50 they are rapidin every respect those sold elsewhere for $10. At $7 50 they are rapid sellers. Like the men we speak of you would be surprised to note how much style, comfort and wear you can get for so little money.

MEN'S FIRST-CLASS OVERCOATS at $10

No one else in town pretends to sell you a $15 garment for $10; yet we actually do this very thing, which accounts for our enormous trade on garments at this popular price—grays, tans and browns and dark colors are shown you. Stylish and wear-resisting Cheviots, Worsteds and Cassimeres, either plain or with silk facings and sleeve lining, are offered for your selection. Every garment is made in the best of manner and as good as any sold in the other stores for $15. Sizes to fit all.

MEN'S EXTRA FINE OVERCOATS at $15

Grand assortment offered you at Fifteen dollars—light or dark, quiet or gay, stunning or plain. Probably a hundred different styles are here. Twould be 500 if it were necessary to have everything required, but it isn't. Not a material, not a shade, that is stylish or desirable is missing. "Everything for everybody" aptly describes our elegant display at $15. Silk lined Cheviots, beautiful Worsteds, splendid Cassimeres, made up so handsomely that they look like twin brothers to the garments which cost $40 in merchant tailoring stores. Not a garment offered at this price but what is sold you at $5 less money than they can be bought elsewhere.

BUSY SCENES in our CLOAK PARLORS

It is wonderful how quick the news of our beautiful stock has traveled. It seems as though every lady for a hundred miles around has been awakened, aroused and interested by our efforts to give to Pittsburg a real Metropolitan Cloak Department-a place where the ladies can select the latest and finest styles just as easy as in the first-class houses of New York, Boston or Philadelphia. Of course, this spontaneous cooperation on the part of the ladies pleases us beyond expression and tends to stimulate us to still greater efforts. Our imported Tailor-made Newmarkets, Wraps and Jackets are the center of attraction. Every lady should see them. They are marvels of elegance, style and cheapness.
